FOREWORD

The 1970 Fairlander is a students view of a year that has become only a memory.

The year 1970 will rapidly become almost indistinguishable from all that have gone before and will follow; but what time erases, this book will preserve.

What began in the hot, latter month of August has now become a full cycle with the line of commencement in May.

The first reunion of old friends soon ended with demanding assignments. Every day the school inhaled and exhaled a swarm of students.

In the classroom as well as on the court, students met victory and defeat. As a group, we huddled together to face the new opportunities of tomorrow. As individuals we kept our goals set high and plodded on to the future.

For some this was a first year of initiation; for others a last year of preparation.

1969-1970 was a game ... teacher ... friends ... the past ... hope ... fear ... a memory ... pointing on toward the future.

Voting for President of the Student Council in Study Hall.

The Student Council organizes and supervises the election of class officers and the election of Student Council officers and representatives. They also have a talent show every year in order to entertain the student body and to give the talented students of Fairland High School a chance to display their abilities. Another activity of the Student Council, which all the students at Fairland greatly enjoy, is the Dress-Up Day and the Slop Days.

Voting for Senior Class President

The majorettes dances to "Hot Rock Rock."

The Shower-Room Quartet, consisting of Andy Russell playing the nose, John Cox playing rhythm and whistling, Jackie Gillette playing the arm tuba, and Bo Hall playing the mouth, won the title of being the funniest entry in the talent show. Unfortunately the Shower-Room Quartet will be unable to make its 3rd annual appearance next year due to the departure of one of its members, senior Jackie Gillette. They played "Sons of Marshall," Rock My Soul," and, of course, "Sweet Georgia Brown."

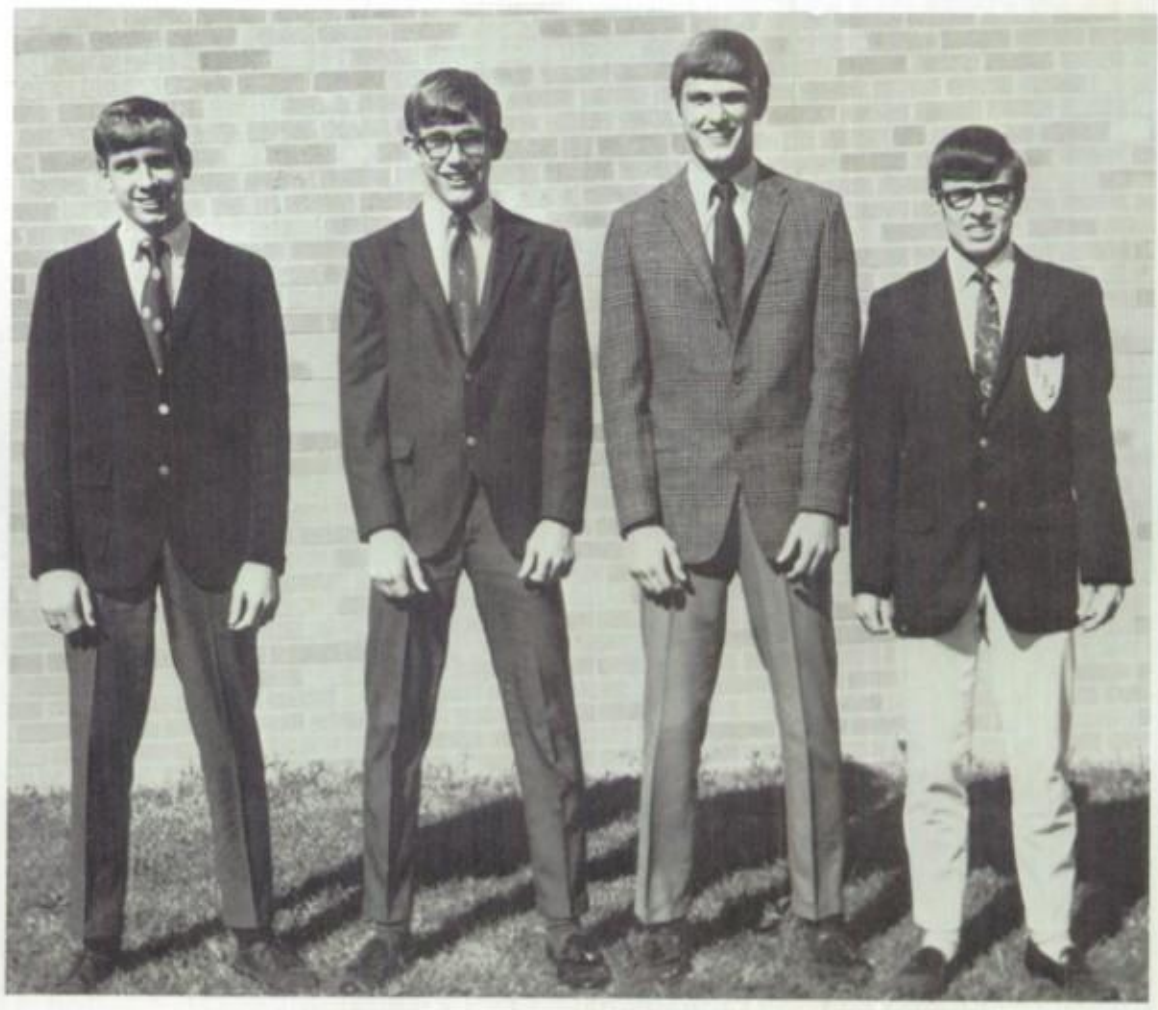
The Varsity Club of Fairland High School is a service organization designed to show its members their responsibility to the school, church, and community. Annually it gives a Christmas party at Cammack's Children's Center. We close the year's activities with an overnight outing at Howell's Mill Christian Assembly, followed by a full day of recreation, swimming, and eating, and our annual hayride.



VARSITY "F" OUTING AT HOWELL'S MILL

The beginnings of a mud battle?

Well, at least they got their baths that night!

The pillow fight lasted nearly all night - and some were very sore for days later!

A guy couldn't even sleep in peace!

Softball was one of the various activities that everyone played.

These are our athletes? YELCH! They should quit using "that greasy kid stuff."

Planning the trip.

Every year the Science Club goes on an outing. This year they went to Carter Caves and had a lot of fun going through the caves, boating, - and swimming?

Bobbie Gorby wins the award for the best exhibit by a Science Club member in the Science Fair.

Gathering at the lodge.

Some wore life jackets - They were smart!

Paddle-boat racing.

Swimming in May? Br-r-r-r.

Row boats were fun too.

Is he going to save them?

Finally they were homeward bound ... tired, wet, and bedraggled.

DRAMA CLUB

Every year the students at Fairland remember a certain assembly or activity more than they do others. One of the reasons is because of the entertainment that the Drama Club provides. The club participation in the Thanksgiving and Christmas assemblies left a variety of memories. The spring play this year was entitled Lock, Stock, and Lipstick. The Drama Club members also colored the memories of the students with the Car Bash and Hippie Dance.

Y-TEENS

Due to the large membership, the Y-Teen Club was divided into two groups. The ninth and tenth graders formed one club with Mrs. Hannah Petrie as sponsor, and the eleventh and twelfth graders were sponsored by Mrs. Jane Ensign. Although the club was divided, the groups worked together on-all projects. Thanksgiving baskets were given to needy families, and the club sponsored a sock hop after a football game. Christmas packages were mailed to boys in Viet Nam.

"BEHIND THE SCENES"

There's more to a drama club play than acting. The play does not only consist of the actors and actresses but the stage crew, make-up and prop committees also. Without these committees, it would be almost impossible to present a play. In "Lock, Stock, and Lip-stick," these committees contributed a great deal in its production. You may think it's easy to string a clothesline from one hat tree to another, but it's not. They carried desks and file cabinets on stage for night rehearsals: that wasn't easy either. Make-up is another important factor; without it, we would look like ghosts.

Thanks for making our play successful.

Special Note: A special thanks to Pam Wilkinson and Christine Yaudas for their hard work as Student Directors.

GRADUATION PARTY

Reminiscing?

The graduation party was held at the Library Club, in Huntington. After Commencement most people went home to change clothes and then went to the Library for a great time, from 10 P.M. until 2 A.M. Even though everyone was having fun, in the back of their minds were the thoughts, "This may be the last time that we will see a lot of these people," and "It has been a wonderful four years!"

CLASS PROPHECY

The reunion for the Class of 1970 was to be held in my home town of Proctorville on June 2, 1985. I arrived at the airport directly outside the city, and discovered that it was owned by STEVE ASH and JODY McREYNOLDS. Arriving on the same flight with me were HOBART ADKINS, the famous guitarist for the Grand Ole Oprey, LINDA RIGGS, the world renowned clairvoyant, and DIANE HARRISON, the owner of Dole Pineapple, Inc.

I decided to spend my free time by roaming around Proctorville to see how it had changed in the past fifteen years. I discovered that it had developed into a bustling metropolis with many new stores, shops, and businesses.

The exclusive dress shop was owned by RHONDA HUTCHISON and KAREN HOWELL. The city's gym was managed by JOHN DILLON. The wrestlers there were JACK DAY and GERALD HOLDERBY, and JOHNNY BRAMMER was the masseur. The head of the city's construction company was JACK ESTEP. CLAUDIA MEGISON and JILL BURCHAM owned the local flower shop.

While walking down Main Street, I saw two cars whiz by. In the first was RONNIE HARBOUR, the famous racer, being closely followed by JERRY KEENEY, the head of the Proctorville police. I also happened to see TERESA MITCHEM and RITA BOWLING, stars of the Metropolitan Opera. They told me they were in town for the reunion. They said that SHARON and DIANE MEDLEY, KATHY FINNELL, VICKIE CUNNINGHAM, and BETTY RUCKER, a popular singing group known as the "Farfetched Five," were also planning to be at the reunion.

For lunch, I went to the joint Dairy Bar-Pizza Parlour owned by KAREN DAVIS and ROBERT CLAY. I happened to see MARK BAILEY, whom I joined for lunch. He told me that he was the president of Bailey Chemical Corporation. He went on to say that several of our classmates were members of his firm. His own private secretary was MARCIA TURLEY. BETTY SHAFER was the head of the research department, DONNA HOKE was in charge of customer sales, and his business managers were NANCY SWINDLER and KAREN BRAGG. He then told me that MILDRED BAILEY, ROSEMARY KEARNS, DEBBIE FLAUGHER, BRENDA CALLICOAT, MARY BRADLEY, and MARJORIE SHORT were secretaries for some influential men in Washington, D.C. and New York.

On my way back to the hotel after lunch, I saw DEBBIE BURCHAM and DIANNA MOORE, the two brain surgeons who had successfully performed the first brain transplant. I also picked up a copy of the P'ville Post. I read that PAM WILKINSON was the editor and JEAN McDANIEL was the assistant editor. The paper carried a famous gossip column written by PATTI WILLIAMSON and CHRISTINE YAUDAS. VICKIE DAVIS was the paper's photographer and several of the reporters were DAVID BLACK, MARY CAUDILL, and COLLEEN CORNELL.

I saw an advertisement in the paper for a Figure Salon run by DELORES JONES and GAIL MOORE. Another article told of the grand opening for The Pub, owned by ROGER BOGGS and GREG FULLER. A special article told of the celebrations for the fifteenth wedding anniversaries of the former MARY KING, VICTOR BRAGG and the former DIANNA HAYES, and the former LOIS FERGUSON.

Another article told of the arrival of several important people for the reunion. Among them were MARSHA FINCH, head of Buster Brown, Inc., JACKIE SIMPSON, the famous movie star, and ELAINE KEENAN, the world famous chemist. The article also told that the reunion was to be held in the dining area of the Proctorville Playboy Club, owned by CHRIS WHITLEY and DANA BROWNING. The Go Go Girl was none other than SUSAN EDWARDS. Several of the bunnies were BEVERLY LUSHER, CHERYL JENKINS, and DEBE ESTEP. The entertainment was to be furnished by the band owned by GLORIA FERGUSON. ELLEN DENNISON, another classmate, was a member of the band.

I left early for the reunion planning to walk to the club. PATRICIA CALLICOAT, one of America's most acclaimed artists, joined me. We walked by the Fire Station and saw several of the firemen sitting out front. Among them were AUSTIN DAVENPORT, DOUG DIAMOND, and MIKE EDWARDS. They told us that the fire chief was BILLY NULL. As we passed the Proctorville National Bank, we saw CHARLIE WESER standing out front. He told us that JIMMY MANN was president of the bank and GARRY FIZER was vice-president.

As we entered the dining area, we saw JANET RATCLIFF and BETH BREWSTER, the world famous criminologists. We also saw JACK HARRIS, the six-foot-six, 235 pound linebacker for the Cleveland Browns. He was talking to Macky McMullen, the manager of the Cincinnatti Reds. With them were MIKE SHEPHERD, star pitcher, and JACKIE GILLETTE, sportscaster for the Reds.

LARRY TILLIS, lead of a large advertising firm, was talking to DONNA NEWMAN, the personal secretary for the President of the United States. DANNY ADKINS and RANDY SALYERS, the mass producers of the first electric car, were at the same table with STEVE GOOL, the jockey whose horse had won the Kentucky Derby, and JAKE JEFFERS, the owner of a farm that covered half of Big Paddy.

As the night wore on, I saw many famous and familiar faces. KATHY PETRIE and BEVERLY REYNOLDS, the famous dance team, came in with ROGER VINCENT, the sculptor whose works were sought all over the world. I saw MARTHA EATON, the owner of a 250 acre horse ranch talking to MELODY PICKETT, the high fashion model for BYRON CHEUVRONT, the designer whose creations had started new trends in the fashion world. ROGER GALLOWAY, the heavy weight champion and his manager, ROY JOHNSON, were seated with NORMAN FULKS, the head of a chain of dancing schools that specialized in tap dancing and SAM WALTERS, the principal of Fairland High School.

Towards the end of the evening, LANNIE ROWE and the former BARBARA PRICE entered the dining area followed by their brood of small children. The clock struck twelve and the reunion was ended. We all went our separate ways, but I knew that we would all remember this reunion.
